The Whiteley Homes Trust

1. Introduction

The Whiteley Homes Trust (the Trust) aims to deliver high quality services. When this does not happen, beneficiaries, tenants, customers or stakeholders affected by our services can make a complaint. This policy sets out our approach to handling complaints and has been written in accordance with the Housing Ombudsman's Complaint Handling Code.

If something has gone wrong, we will acknowledge this and set out what action we have already taken or will be taking to put things right. These actions can include:

- apologising
- acknowledging where things have gone wrong
- providing an explanation, assistance, or reasons
- taking action if there has been delay
- reconsidering or changing a decision
- reviewing policies, procedures, or practices

We will publish this complaints policy and information about the Housing Ombudsman and their Complaint Handling Code on our website and in bulletins to residents. We will also provide hard copies for residents who do not have access to electronic copies.

We will not treat you less favourably in the future if you make a complaint.

2. What is a complaint

The Trust uses the Housing Ombudsman's definition of a complaint as:

"an expression of dissatisfaction, however made, about the standard of service, actions or lack of action by the landlord, its own staff, or those acting on its behalf, affecting a resident or group of residents."

3. What you can complain about

You can complain about the standard of service, actions or lack of action by the Trust, our staff, or those acting on our behalf, such as our contractors, within 12 months of the issues arising.

If you contact us with a service request we will not initially log this as a complaint. The Housing Ombudsman defines a service request as "a request from a resident to the landlord requiring action to be taken to put something right". Examples include a missed appointment or a delay carrying out a repair. We will apologise and aim to resolve this outside our complaints process. If you are not happy with our response to your service request, we will raise this as a complaint.

The Trust will consider each complaint individually but will not accept complaints where:

- the issue giving rise to the complaint occurred over 12 months ago
- the matter has already been considered under the complaints policy
- legal proceedings have started
- the complaint relates to a personal injury claim
- the complaint relates to the behaviour of our residents (anti-social behaviour). This will be dealt with under our Anti-Social behaviour policy

At our own discretion, the Trust may accept older complaints if there is a good reason why it had not been raised before.

If we decide not to accept a complaint, we will write to you and explain the reasons for this decision and how to contact the Housing Ombudsman. If the Housing Ombudsman does not agree with our decision they may tell the Trust to take on the complaint.
